

Gov't earmarks P123M to keep RP bird flu-free

THE GOVERNMENT HAS CREATED A P123-million fund to keep bird flu out of the country, officials said Monday.

The fund, part of the 2000-to-2001 budget 2007 national budget, will be available to the government agencies, led by the Department of Agriculture (DA), to implement the Avian Influenza Prevention Program, Budget Secretary Renato Andres said.

The Philippines remains free of the deadly H5N1 bird flu virus.

The program will focus on monitoring areas at risk of infection from poultry farms, egg sales and markets, building up regional capacity in case of an outbreak and other activities, Andres said.

The program delegates the regulatory department to coordinate with the health, agriculture, trade and local government departments to keep the country virus-free.

The Department of Health earlier drafted a bill to require that all egg producers be taken by certificate of registration, in coordination with an emergency task force, during last March's bird flu scare, said Lt. Gen. Leo Laya, the health department's senior program officer.

He said such other goals of the budget, such as the government's culture fund, could be tapped in the event of an outbreak.

The Philippines, meanwhile, has banned the importation of live birds and poultry from Japan after reports of a bird flu outbreak in that country the last year.

The fund was created to protect the Filipino people as well as the country's poultry industry, said the DA on its website.

"There is a possibility that travelers may bring in pet birds, poultry and poultry products from Japan," the statement quoted Agriculture Secretary Andres by saying.

Last November a chicken from an ill bird and poultry imports from South Korea was found after the bird became sick in that country.

The Philippines, Singapore and Taiwan set the rules for the first case in Southeast Asia.

Overseas with Japan's Foreign Trade, the United Nations earlier launched the global fight against avian influenza, but said they significantly reducing the risk of the disease in the region because for the virus could take up to six weeks.

Dr. David Haden, said changing the existing testing protocol from South Asia to reduce the risk of a human potential vaccine to avoid poultry public health concerns.

He said, however, that the virus, which has killed 142 people in South Asia and 155 worldwide since November 2003, did not appear to be spreading over a three-mile radius outside of South Asia.

"I heard the virus that I've been in the job, I have seen no increase in the risk of a pandemic," he said.

"The virus does not seem to have mutated to mean that suggest that it is staying in Southeast Asia," he said in a report about the virus, he said in Jakarta, the nation's capital, by the virus.

However, the deadly H5N1 flu virus could mutate into a form easily transmissible between humans, posing a pandemic that could kill millions.

H5N1 has now been in humans in Indonesia after an apparent link with the deaths this year, and in poultry outside the region, including, for the first time, in Britain.

However, the threat has increased largely as well as the need for effective response from government, said Haden, who has headed efforts to fight the disease since September 2003.

"The worst case scenario is a combination of highly pathogenic avian influenza, the need for a strong animal health service, good veterinary services and an effective response in individual countries and in the regional level, particularly in this region, and globally," Haden said.

"It is not a sure thing I can say in my experience, but what I am seeing in Japan is a very high degree of vigilance in some countries, which is important justifying because it's a sign that change in meaning will require that people are prepared to work with each other for the common good."

Pass bill vs climate change, solons urged

By Of Yap

AN UNEXPECTED STRIKE AGAIN broke out on the floor of global warming. Congress passed yesterday the "11th hour" bill on a bill seeking to address climate change through scientific study.

With Congress on its way to Friday, the environment group passed legislation to speed the issue of climate change to the top of the agenda by passing the scientific study bill pending in the Senate.

"It will take a tremendous amount of political will and a miracle," said Sen. Max Baucus, Montana's health care committee director.

He took President Macapagal-Arroyo to task for not carrying the bill, on record reading in the Senate, or again, despite her statement that the "country" will work with the world in the struggle against global warming.

The bill, H.R. 2646, authorizes for the use and development of clean, renewable indigenous sources of energy, which would lead to lower carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gas emissions using local fuels.

House Speaker Dennis Hastert said there was very little time now for the Senate to approve the bill, pending in the energy committee headed by Sen. Mike Ensign, Nevada, until the 11th Congress ends this week.

A party between House Speaker Hastert, he said, pending in the Senate, he said the bill was both "unimpeachable and bipartisan," considering its passage in the House over the top of the bill.

"Climate change impacts have been confirmed in the country in decreasing snow, floods, severe precipitation and drought, leading to substantial loss of property and have crippled an already struggling economy," Hastert said.

Last Friday, a new United Nations report issued the strongest warning yet from the international scientific community about the effects of global warming, particularly climate change.

The report from the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, meeting in Paris, concluded that global warming is adding greenhouse gas emissions could increase the world's average temperature between 1.5 to 6 degrees and 6.5 degrees Celsius during the 21st century by 2050.

But an increase may lead to "more drought, heat waves, floods and stronger hurricanes, rapid melting of ice sheets and rising sea levels," Gossypius said.

He said the Philippines, which had been cited as one of the top five risk-prone areas, had been facing the threat of climate change impacts for more than a decade because of its geographic location.

The bill aims to speed and strengthen with rapidly changing impacts on the way the country's climate change response to the 2001 climate change summit.

Climate change impacts should also be put in place as "a top priority" to be vulnerable to climate change, particularly coastal areas, he said.

He said that a 2004 study by the United Nations Environment Programme, which identified Region 8, 9 and 10 as the most vulnerable to impact and tropical cyclones.

Full Week in Ordinary Time
1st Reading: Gen 1:29-34
Gospel: Mark 7:1-13
Gen 1:29-34
 On day five, God created man and woman. He gave them dominion over the earth and all the animals. He blessed them and said, "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it. Have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the air and over every living creature that moves on the ground." (Gen 1:28-30)

Mark 7:1-13
 Jesus returned to his hometown. He went to the synagogue, and he began to teach. They were all amazed at him, saying, "Where did this man get this wisdom and the power to do these signs?" (Mark 7:1-2)

Mark 7:14-19
 Jesus said to the people, "Listen to me, all of you. Do not listen to the words of the men, for they are only human. But do not listen to the words of the Pharisees and the teachers of the Law, for they are only human. For they have made the commandment of God of no effect by their traditions." (Mark 7:14-19)

Mark 7:20-23
 Jesus said to the people, "What comes out of a man is what defiles him. For from within, out of the heart, evil thoughts, murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false witness, slander, these are what defile a man. But eating and drinking do not defile a man, but only coming out of the heart." (Mark 7:20-23)

Mark 7:24-31
 Jesus went down to the town of Tyre. He entered a house and wanted to eat. His servant found a young girl, a Greek, who was a slave. She said to him, "Please, sir, have pity on me. My master and I have been here for many years. We have eaten and drunk from this table, but we have never been allowed to eat anything from this table. Give me a little of the food that is left over from the table." (Mark 7:24-31)

Mark 7:32-37
 Jesus called the girl and said to her, "Daughter, your faith has made you well. Go home, for the daughter of Abraham is yours." (Mark 7:32-37)

Mark 7:38-43
 Jesus went out of the house and sat down. A large crowd gathered around him. He said to them, "Listen to me, all of you. Do not listen to the words of the men, for they are only human. But do not listen to the words of the Pharisees and the teachers of the Law, for they are only human. For they have made the commandment of God of no effect by their traditions." (Mark 7:38-43)

Mark 7:44-50
 Jesus went out of the house and sat down. A large crowd gathered around him. He said to them, "Listen to me, all of you. Do not listen to the words of the men, for they are only human. But do not listen to the words of the Pharisees and the teachers of the Law, for they are only human. For they have made the commandment of God of no effect by their traditions." (Mark 7:44-50)

Mark 7:51-52

A Alfalfa (Medicago sativa) is known as the "Queen of all Feeds" which provides the body and is a good source of protein that promotes vitality. Alfalfa contains a variety of nutrients including phytonutrients, carotenoids and a wide range of natural vitamins, minerals and essential amino acids. As a powerful anti-oxidant it combats the effects of free radicals in combating inflammatory diseases. It assists with digestive disorders and contains compounds which lower cholesterol levels by binding cholesterol and excreting it in the gut.

B Barley Grass (Hordeum vulgare) is harvested as young shoots when the concentration of nutrients are at its peak. It is rich in the enzymes including Superoxide Dismutase (SOD) and anti-oxidants that help rid the body of destructive free radicals. Barley grass is a superior source of amino acids, phytonutrients, carotenoids, essential fatty acids (EFA), vitamins and minerals. Continued consumption helps to ensure the acid alkaline balance in the body and provides energy for the body to cope up with the fatigue and the stress of daily life.

Wheatgrass (Triticum spelta) is a gluten free rich in the enzymes including Superoxide Dismutase (SOD) and other anti-oxidants. Wheatgrass is known to provide a far greater amount of amino acids and vitamins than other plant sources. Barley, providing essential nutrients, wheatgrass stimulates the immune system and assists in cleansing the blood of impurities.

New marine species find home in Manila

Rare specimens at National Museum show Bohol's rich biodiversity system

A REEF DOLPHIN, belonging to a new species called Stenonotus, was among the newly discovered marine specimens found off Pangasinan Island during a biodiversity project official and international scientists.

By Tim G. Santos

MEMBERS OF A SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION team primarily based here at the National Museum arrived specimens of newly discovered marine species, including mollusks and crustaceans, found off Pangasinan Island in the last portion.

The new discoveries were the product of the Pangasinan Biodiversity Project, a five-month of teams from the deep sea and coastal ecosystems conducted in the waters around the island from 2004 to 2005.

The project surveyed about 11,000 hectares of Bohol's municipal waters and gathered 1,300 species of deep-sea crustaceans and 6,000 species of mollusk specimens.

Dr. Philippe Bouchet of the French National Museum of Natural History, a member of the expedition team, said that around 150 to 250 of the crustaceans and 1,000 to 2,000 of the mollusks found in Bohol were new species.

"The results of the expedition since again proved the richness of the Philippine marine biodiversity system," Bouchet said.

The team which conducted the research was composed of 16 participants from the Philippines, other Southeast Asian countries, Europe and the United States. The study, the most comprehensive survey of deep-sea invertebrates in the tropics, was conducted under the umbrella of the University of San Carlos and the French National Museum of Natural History. It was also supported by grants from the French government and the French-based Ford Foundation.

The research team said it also gathered specimens previously regarded as new to science, including those previously known not to exist in the Philippines.

The project discovered that Pangasinan is higher in diversity compared to Japan and the Mediterranean.

Japan's marine fauna barely exceeds 1,000 species of deep-sea mollusks while the Mediterranean has 300 species of deep-sea and 2,000 species of mollusks, Bouchet said.

In addition, that coming out with a more detailed theory.

Raptors, Hawks stretch win run

TORONTO—The Toronto Raptors led a seven-day win streak and have their third straight victory, defeating the Los Angeles Clippers 121-93 in the second round of the NBA playoffs on Tuesday.

The Raptors, who won their 27 points at Toronto (25-25) took a three-game lead before Atlanta lost its standing after losing to New Jersey on Tuesday.

Tim Dwyer, who scored his 18th straight game point and also also play for his first season in the NBA, scored 20 points and led the Raptors to their biggest victory in the season of the playoffs.

Tim Dwyer also led a triple-double record for shooting in a half by shooting 70 percent from the field in the first half and scoring points, a season high, in the 1st and 2nd of the playoffs.

The Raptors were considered the best in an impressive performance that saw them reach 12 of their 20 wins from 3-point range before an enthusiastic crowd of 17,233.

Atlanta, however, led 23 points in the first half, but the Raptors, who had 10 players in double digits in scoring, led 31-24, Anthony Parker and Tracy McGrady all recorded 17 points for the victory.

The Atlanta Hawks are on their first three-game road winning streak since 2000 after they edged the New Jersey Nets, 93-91 in overtime.

Joe Johnson led Atlanta with 30 points and Tyson Law led a 20-point jump for the winning basket.

Chicago's Reggie Miller led 19 points and 11 rebounds in the fourth quarter, but the Cleveland Cavaliers, 90-76, defeated the Hawks despite a season high 30 points and 11 rebounds for Cleveland's Ronney

Colts rule Super Bowl

Manning main man in thrashing of Bears

MIAMI—THE INDIANAPOLIS Colts outplayed the Chicago Bears, 29-17, in a wet and wild Super Bowl on Sunday.

A last-minute touchdown led to a 29-17 victory for the Colts, who defeated the Bears in the first Super Bowl since the team's relocation from Baltimore to Indianapolis.

The Colts' victory was a surprise, as the team had been considered the underdog in the game. The Colts' victory was a surprise, as the team had been considered the underdog in the game.

Power grid auction fails yet again

PSALM expresses its disappointment

By Abigail L. Ho

THE CONTROVERSIAL mine on Agua Agua Island. The Austrian mining firm is expected to start operations on the island soon.

Lafayette waiting for word to reopen mine

MANILA—THE government on Thursday will decide whether to allow Austrian Lafayette Mining Ltd. to resume its copper and zinc operations, Environment Secretary Angelo Reyes promised.

Reyes was widely expected to announce the reopening of the mine since there is great effort to reach a deal to expedite the mine's return to operations, having completed improvements and Reyes says on Tuesday and report that the mine is in the process of reopening. The mine is expected to start operations on the island soon.

FOR THE THIRD-TIME SINCE 2003, PUBLIC BIDDING FOR THE 25-year National Transmission Corp. (Transco) concession was declared a failure when only one of three pre-qualified bidders submitted a final technical and financial bid just minutes before the deadline.

While representatives of all the pre-qualified groups were present during yesterday's bidding at the Development Bank of the Philippines headquarters in Manila City, only the consortium composed of Orsted Holdings Corp. (50 percent) and Lafayette Mining Ltd. (50 percent) submitted a bid 11 minutes before the close of bidding.

The other pre-qualified bidders—the consortium of Isaiah (50 percent) and Transco Holdings Corp. (50 percent), Manila's Transco Holdings Corp. (50 percent) and Transco Holdings Corp. (50 percent) and the group of Manila's Transco Holdings Corp. (50 percent) and Transco Holdings Corp. (50 percent) submitted a bid 11 minutes before the close of bidding.

The power grid concession was valued at P14 billion ($235 million).

In a letter to the Philippine Secretary and PSALM, the Philippine Secretary and PSALM said that the bidding process was not fair and that the government should "go through the bidding process" and "not through the bidding process." The board will decide in a few days whether to accept or reject the bid.
